The Cumulative Effect of Costs on Return

The total charges deducted for each fund will have an impact on the investment return you might get. Whilst performance can't be guaranteed, we can give you examples of how the charges will affect what you might get back.

For a $1,000 lump sum invested in this fund for 1 year with a net growth rate of 3%

› $1,032.40	What you might get back if there were no charges at all.
› $1,030.00	What you might get back after total charges outlined above.
› 3.24%	Performance you could have achieved without fees.
› 3.00%	Performance achieved after fees have been applied.
› $2.40	Reduction in profit as a result of fees.

Recipients should conduct their own investigation and analysis of the information contained in this document and should consult their own professional advisers. The purpose of the cost and charges disclosures is to break down and illustrate the costs and charges associated with classes or sub-classes of financial instruments, and investment services. This disclosure provides examples of particular products and the costs and charges associated with them. It includes examples of all financial instruments or products within each asset class. The costs and charges figures provided in this disclosure are illustrative of the costs and charges associated with particular financial instruments, but may not reflect the costs and charges associated with any actual transaction. Forward looking costs figures are estimates based on historic data, where available and relevant, or are based upon the MiFID II guidelines for producing estimated forward looking costs figures when historic data is not available. Actual cost figures, which will be reported on an ex-post basis, may vary from estimates given.

The illustrative cost and charges information will be calculated on the basis of certain assumptions and estimates, which are specified in the examples, and typical costs. The actual costs may vary from those set out in the examples as a result of (without limitation) differences in the following parameters:

- actual investment amount or notional of the transaction (though this change may not be proportionate)
- individual holding period
- trading venue
- trading currency
- product costs and charges of the respective financial instrument
- service costs and charges agreed with SIEL
- performance of the financial instrument (taking into account, in respect of financial instruments denominated in a foreign currency, changes in the exchange rate during the holding period)
- changes in the product and service costs and charges during the holding period
